Under federal copyright law the Chafee Amendment allows authorized education agencies and non-profit organizations to create and distribute alternative formats of non-dramatic copyrighted materials without written consent from the copyright holder as long as the alternative formats are for the exclusive use of people with disabilities.

Alternative format materials include Braille, large print, audio and digital text (e-text.) Digital text is a computer-readable file that can be read aloud by a screenreader program.

By signing this agreement the School District/Service Provider agrees to provide the following services:

1. To determine if the student's disability qualifies him or her eligible for use of alternative formats of copyrighted materials.
2. To provide access to available e-text.
3. To provide training in the use of the e-text files and text-reader software.

By signing this agreement, the parent and student:

1. Agree to use audio and digital copyrighted material only as a supplement to a purchased book, and only outlined by the student's educational team.
2. Agree not to copy or distribute the e-text/digital files we provide to any other person.
3. Agree to return copyrighted e-text/digital files to the school upon course completion or exit/graduation.
4. Agree to remove alternative files and/or special software from your personal home computers upon completion or exit/graduation from school.

By signing, all parties agree to the above conditions and are bound to the Agreement.
